

Workshop in Methods

Social Science Research Commons

Introduction to MATLAB

Jefferson Davis

Mathematical Software Analyst, Research Analytics

Matlab is a numerical programming environment with a large library of functions for numerical analysis and computation. This workshop will be an introduction to Matlab syntax and computation. We will cover:

- Basic Matlab data structures and syntax
- Importing and exporting data
- Plotting curves and surfaces
- Running simple statistical tests
- Comments on Matlab's use in image processing and GIS

The workshop assumes no prior familiarity with Matlab.

Friday, February 14, 2014

2:00-3:30pm

SSRC Grand Hall, Woodburn Hall 200